A SERIOUS CHARGE. ALLEGATION THAT SOMEBODY HAS BEEN PAID TO PROTECT THE

GAMBLERS. A Statement of Grave Import Made Yes. terday by Police-Justice Richardson, &c., &c.

Mr. George Hill was before the Police Court yesterday morning on a warrant charging him with "keeping and exhibitng a certain gaming-table commonly called A BC or E O table, faro-bank, wheel of fortune, keno-table, or table of the like kind, under any denomination, within twelve months last past."

ORIGIN OF THE CASE. On the 31st of August Police-Justice D. C. Richardson received a letter written and signed by Marx Mitteldorfer telling him that gambling was being carried on in certhat gambling was being carried on it cer-tain houses in the city, and giving both a list of the houses and the persons by whom they were kept. Justice Richardson with-out delay referred the letter to Major John Poe, Jr., Chief of Police, who at once re-ferred it to Captain James B. Angle, of the Second police-district, in whose section of the city the houses were said to be lo-

THE PARTIES ACCUSED. Upon the receipt of this letter, and in Upon the receipt of this letter, and information received from other sources, Captain Angle swore out warrants against George Hill, William Myers, and George Jockson for keeping a gambling-house on Seventh street between Broad and Marshall; R. L. Adams, Emmet Depriest, and Tom Lyons, Seventh street between Broad and Grace; Colle Jordan and E. A. Levy, over McCarthy & Havnes', Broad street between Sixth and Seventh; Preston Nuckols and Henry Miller, over Selden & Timberlake's, on Broad street between Sixth and Seventh.

THE RAID MADE.

and Seventh.

THE RAID MADE.

Captain Angle arranged at once to make a raid on these houses that night, and for that purpose had a number of officers at the Second station-house at 10 o'clock, but the severe cartiquake shock and the troube at the penitentiary, which events are fresh in the memories of the people in this city, caused such consternation that the officers had to be oispatched to the penitentiary, and the raid was postponed. About 11 o'clock the next night the raid was undar. Two of the places, being found closed, were broken open, but nothing was found. The other two houses were found open, but nothing was going on to indicate gaming. If was evident that from some unknown source the gambiers received information that the raid was to be made, and they prepared for the occasion.

pared for the occasion.

Colle Jordan, Top. Lyons, and E. A.

Levy were arrested that night—the former on Seventh street near Broad and the two on eventh street near Broad and the two latter in a house on Sixth street between Marshall and Chay—and were bailed in the sum of $300 each for their appearance at the Police Court next morning. The others who were not found that night have since been arrested or have surrendered theta-selves. Hill was not found at the time, and have rever been partly few days are, when has never been until a few days ago, when he gave himself up to the police. WITNESSES.

WITNESSES.

When the warrants were sworn out Cantain Angle was furnished with a list of witnesses to be summoned to give testimony in the cases. All of them were summoned except two, who could not be found. One singular thing connected with these cases is that the parties accused in nearly all of them have waived a preliminary examination. A gentleman, who was evidently well posted, said to Justice Richardson a few days ago that a witness in one of the cases told him that the reason why this course was pursued was that the accused feared if they went before Justice Richardson and took the stand they would be so closely cross-questioned that they would tell something which would make agalast them, while, if they appeared before the grand Jury, they would not be so rigidly catechised.

HILL'S CASE CALLED. HILL'S CASE CALLED.

When Hill's case was called yesterda; morning the first witness examined was Captain James B. Angle, who said that from information received he swore out the warrant against Mr. Hill. He (Angle) did not know of his own knowledge whether Hill had kept or exhibited a game of fare or game of the like kind within the past twelve months; that when he received the information a list of names was furnished hum to summon as wilnesses. He underinformation 5 list of names was furnished him to summon as witnesses. He under-stood Mr. Hill kept a place on Seventh street between Broad and Marshall streets, which was searched at the time the other gambling-houses were raided several weeks age, but nothing was found therein indi-serve that it was a gambling-house. cating that it was a gambling-house.

All of the witnesses except James Ferriter, who, in the examination is a former case testified that he had not been a former case testified that he had not been in a gambling-house for two years, and W. W. Cook, who was not present, were examined, all of whom testified that they had not seen Mr. Hill in a gaming-house within the past twelve mouths. Neither did they know who kept the house on Seventh street alluded to in the warrant.

The Police Justice said that there was no evidence against Mr. Hill, and he would have to discharge bim, but that his discharge was no bar to a prosecution in the funtre.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST AN OFFICER.

After this case had been disposed of Jus-tice Richardson cafled to Captain Angle and stated that he desired to make a public formed, and he regretted that he could not give the name of the informer, that an offi-eer of this city had been receiving from the gamblers of Richmond for months past $50 per month as an indemnity; that he de-stred the matter probed to the bottom, and the guilty person brought to justice. Captain Angle replied that he was not the Captain Angle replied that he was not the man, as he had announed his determination to break up every gambling-house in his district; that no gambling should be carried on it he could prevent it.

Justice Richardson said it was due to Captain Angle to state that he (Richardson did not know who the man was, but he did not for a moment believe that Captain Angle was the man referred to—it was probably an efficial higher in authority; that he only called him up as the case then before the court came from his district, and before the court came from his district, and it was due to the police that the matter be fully investigated.

with a gentleman of this city, when be said to me, 'I will tell you something if you promise not to mention my name in connection with it.' I said, 'All right; go ahead.' He then said, 'I will do it if you promise me on your honor that my name will not be used.' I promised not to divide his name without his consent. divulge his name without his consent, when he said: 'I have been told that the gamblers of this city have for some time past paid to a prominent official of this city $50 per month as an indemnity, or for erty $50 per month as an indemnity, of for protection in their business. Mr.—
(giving me the name of a party who is now dead) certainly paid that amount for eight months before his death. I do not know the party who received the money, but think I know who it is. I will not menter the areas of the purson whom I amount in the party who is not be a supplied to the party whom I amount in the party who is not provided the party who is now tion the name of the person whom I su-pect, as I have no positive proof."

"This was all the information given me," said the Police-Justice. "Under these disadvantages, I have endeavored to find out said the Police-Justice. "Under these has advantages, I have endeavored to find our something more, but without success. I did not know whom to consult, as I was in the dark as to who was the guilty party, if there was any truth in the rumor at all, and might have confided the matter to one whose interest it might have been to betray me. The charge was one which affected me as much as it did any other city official, and my object in making public the rumor was to repudiate the insinuation as far as I was concerned, and to give notice to the police that laxity in the enforcement of the laws against gambling had furnished the foundation for these rumors. They, and all others connected with the enforcement of the laws, can now show, by carrying out the laws, that they are not liable to such suspicions. I hope the rumor referred to is not true; but if true, I would like to see the bribe-taker exposed, wheever he may be; and if any person can give any information on the subject I would like to have it."

I will say this much: No person has ever offered me money, and if an attempt was made to bribe me the person trying it would be sorry for it. I have never received one cent from any gambler or any one else. This report reflects upon the integrity of the officers of the police force, and ought to be sitted to the bottom, and I will do all in my power to find out the guilty man."

CAPTAIN J. B. PLEASANTS. "There are no gambling-houses in my district, and I know nothing of the matter you refer to. This is the first time I have ever heard of it. The matter should be tuilv investigated, and if there is any truth in the rumor there is certainly a way to find out the guilty man."

A CARD FROM THE CHIEF, OFFICE OF CHIRF OF POLICE, No. 2 NORTH TENTH STREET, RICHMOND, VA., October 20, 1886.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Sir,—The Police-Justice having stated in his court yesterday that he had been informed an officer had been receiving $50 per month from the gamblers for protecting them, and that remark being a reflection on myself as well as on the rest of the force, I at once requested the Mayor to order the strictest investigation of the subject. He will gail the Police Board together for that purpose on Monday next, as the balance of this week will be occupiled by the Fair and visitors thereto.

In the mean time I declare that I believe the charges untrue and unjust as to any and every member of the force, and as to myself I assert they are absolutely false.

Very respectfully, John Poe, Jr.,

Chief of Police. To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Osterioli, except that allowed as homestead exemption:

The property named in the deed consists of a lot at the corner of Franklin and Ryland streets. 150x152 feet, fronting on Franklin; lot at the corner of Franklin and Henry streets, fronting 50 feet on the former and running back 149 eight inches to a twenty-foot alley; lot fronting 50 feet on Franklin street, located letwern Belvidere and Henry; a lot on Shockee siin, 41½x75 feet, adjoining the property of Walter K. Martin & Co.; household and kitchen turniture.

The property is conveyed to be held as a trust, and, upon demand of either bank, to be advertised and sold on the following terms: Personal property, cash; real estate, 4 per cent, cash, balance in six, twelve, and eighteen months, the deferred payments to be properly secured. The net proceeds are to be applied pro rata to the payment of the defendant's obligations or dur-bills, and if there is any surplus it is to be pald to said Osterloh, or as he may direct. Osterloh agrees to pay all taxes, assessments, dues, and charges upon the said property as long as he, his heirs, or assigns shall hold the same, and to keep the buildings adequately insured for the benefit of these obligations; that upon his failure to do so the trustee or the beneficiaries under the deed may effect such insurance, and all premiums paid therefor shall constitute a first lieu on the property.

The fact is, nearly every man, woman and child needs something to sustain and build up the life nearly all the while; but it must be something that is nerve-building-blood-making, and health-giving. Such a preparation has been found in Volina Cor-dial, which is becoming so wonderfully popular. It is a rare combination of atrengthening and healing ingredients, and is superior to any known preparation of modern times. The amount of albumen it imparts to the system is simply wonderful For overworked men, delicate women, and sickly children, it comes not only as a tonic, but sa a food.
